

Hemorrhoids Do not have to Be a Permanant Problem

Vitamin B is a great remedy you can use to help treat your hemorrhoids. Unlike other vitamins which you would take orally, you should apply vitamin b (crushed power or liquid) directly to the contaminated area in your anus. This could help you to be able to significantly reduce the size of your hemorrhoids.

- Pepper is your worst enemy in the fight against hemorrhoids, then water is one of your greatest allies.
- Water is good for a great deal of things when it comes to your body, so it should be consumed anyway.
- One more benefit is that it helps to flush out your system.

Avoid Sitting for Long Periods of Time

Sitting can put unnecessary pressure in your hemorrhoids. Though you may have to be able to sit for work, try to work in times when you can stand for short intervals and relieve pressure. However, it is also wise not to stand constantly for too long and in this case incorporate a pattern of sitting breaks.

Hemorrhoids are Usually Caused by a Swelling of Some Flesh Around the Rectum

A good dose of ice and compression can help to reduce the swelling because it at the same time numbs and shrinks the size and severity of the hemorrhoid. Like any other injury in the body, ice, compression and leaving it alone can help it to be able to cure.
